“ Condolences to you Susie and your family , Hank being gone only makes my world a little smaller. When my father died I had a hole blown trough me as big as the sky and Hank help filled some of that void as he loved my father as much as I did , Ive always respected and loved him for what he done . Susie I hope you can find some comfort and healing like what Hank did for me , I wish that for you and your family with all my heart .

“ Hank was truly one of a kind. I have never felt so welcome in a home as I felt at Hank and Susie's. I also met Hank through the Fredericksburg Ruger gathering, and will always remember the time spent at those gatherings listening to Hank's stories. Hank and Susie invited us to visit their home for a weekend, and we ended up staying four days. Now I wish I could go back and spend even more time. I will forever be grateful that Hank made the trip over to visit us before we moved. I will miss you Hank, but I will always be thankful for your friendship.

“ I can still remember the first time I met Mr. Hank. Elizabeth, true to form, had invited yet another friend from college (me) over to visit while on break---Susie and Hank always opened their lovely home to me and our Natchitoches crew. Two favorite memories of Mr. Hank immediately come to mind; one a story, the other an experience--both unforgettable. First, is the story of the 'strict orders' the Rayne Fire Dept was under to never respond to a house fire at the Helo residence due to the rather large arsenal of fire arms and ammunition scattered throughout. And, of course, any skeptics were given a tour of said firepower which brought a glow to Hank's face each and every time he showed these to others. It didn't matter if it was a minuscule derringer or an air dart made of actual bone from an island safari, he told the stories with passion and excitement that captivated those lucky enough to be in his presence. Hank's stories alone were entertaining enough, but he rarely stopped there. My other favorite memory is him letting me drive his BMW 735 (green exterior, tan interior) at speeds that I will intentionally omit here on this public website...but let's just say that was the fastest I've even been in a moving vehicle. Was Hank worried that I was behind the wheel of his BMW not every having driven one before and not an expert driver? Nope. Was I worried? Yes. However, the worry just faded away when in the presence of Mr. Hank---his calm, collected spirit was very reassuring, even when pressing the envelope. "Don't worry, son." he said, "...they'll never catch us in this." Eyes widened, pedal floored, fun instantaneous. I'm not sure who enjoyed these visits more, Mr. Hank & Mrs. Susie, or Elizabeth, Henry and Amy's friends but one thing is for sure: these experiences, these memories are forever. Love always.

Your other son,

“ Howdy Susie, family and friends. What a loss, Hank was such a good man. I met you guys at a Ruger shoot in Fredericksburg get together. My name is Karl, the first trip was with Judy my wife and the second was with my parents. I surely enjoyed the company, the food and the camaraderie of all there.

I can not tell you how much I enjoyed speaking with and to Hank. We talked there several times and on the phone several times. My life is better because I met him, because we spoke and because we had fun. God bless you all and prayers that you understand that he is with God and will be eternally happy in heaven.

I wish I could be at his service but life intervenes.

Love you Susie, take care and keep in touch.

“ As my oldest childhood friend (across the street neighbor in south crowley) hank and i had a special bond... he loved to tell the story of us throwing rocks at each other when we were three years old.. i threw rocks from my alley, and he said he was disadvantaged because all he had in his driveway was shells.. after dark he'd sometimes sneak across the street and steal rocks from my alley.. hank was an amazing person, as well read as anyone i've ever known, super athlete despite his physical handicap, and as honest and genuine a person as you'll ever meet.. he had a million one liners that kept me laughing.. he was generous with his time and money and if you were his friend, he'd literally give you the shirt off his back.. i will miss my dear friend greatly... but i know the past few years were very painful and he's now pain free for the first time in decades.. i pray for susie, his children and grandchildren.. but the memories of hank helo will live on for many, many years to come.. rip hank...

“ Dearest Susie and family, to say that earth is poorer and heaven is richer does nothing to heal the hurt but please know that Hank touched many lives while he walked among us. His friendship and fellowship was something that had to be experienced to be understood. I will miss his "Hi brotha" when I pick up the phone but cherish the memories and the excitement of knowing he is pain free and waiting for us in heaven.

“ Susie, Elizabeth, Henry, Amy, inlaws, and grandchildren,
So sorry to hear of Hank's passing...His presence was as big as life itself...he will always be with you in spirit...he was a fabulous guy and will be greatly missed...he was such a wealth of knowledge and you all are such a testament of him....God really did break the mold when he made Hank...He adored each and everyone of you, and he always shared those emotions with you both verbally and thru his actions...what a special gift to feel someone's love for you just by being in his presence!
Unfortunately I will not be there in person for the wake and service, but will be in spirit!!!!
I know Hank is sitting in heaven with his parents, Aunt Murley, Uncle Don, his brother, and especially Donnie. You know they are having a heck of a Saturday night...I bet there I a pool game in the process...that would truly be Heaven....love Cecil Hernandez

“ My sincerest condolences to Henry's family. I didn't see Henry on very many occasions, yet each time we managed to visit at a family function I truly enjoyed the conversations we had. While only a cousin-in-law, we would usually be able to pick up the subject of whatever he and Susie and I were talking about from the visit before making me feel like I'd known him for a lifetime. Sending love and prayers to all. Connie G. Helo
