“ I used to visit Bailey at Tulane Hospital when I worked with the Audubon Bugmobile...we would sit and talk for the longest time. She was one of the bravest people I have ever met. She gave me one of her 'SillyBands', which was a bracelet in the shape of some sort of animal. It broke not too long after, but I still carry it in my wallet. I was able to stay in touch with Bailey through the next place I worked at Caps for Kids. I was so happy to see Sean Payton honor Bailey on MNF this past week, and I was equally as floored when I heard of her passing yesterday. Bailey was truly beautiful, inside and out. I hope her family can take solace in the fact she is at peace, and is now one of the most beautiful angels in Heaven.

“ I am without words upon hearing the sad news, news I hopes I'd never hear. I felt all the air leave my chest and was replaced by a terrible ache. Bailey touched my life in a profound way from the moment I met her, Brooke and Grandma on the flight to NY. Bailey embodied everything I believed in and gave me a stronger faith in humanity. She had a spirit that couldn't be broken and an unwavering hear full of compassion for others despite her illness. There was a light in her that would rival the moons at its fullest when closest to the earth on a clear night. She definitely is an angel now in the heavenly skies above that God sent to remind us of his love and the miracle of life. Getting to know her family I am comforted I know she had as much love given to her as anyone human being could and a support system that never faltered and never gave up hope or faith. She served a purpose far greater than any of us could hope for and her time here was divine. We are all so blessed for having shared a word with this beautiful kind, clever, crafty, witty, funny and smart little girl . She was wise beyond her years and knew more about her illness and that of her many friends than I can recall. Such a devastating loss as she was so special and can never be replaced. We will never forget the lessons you've taught us the love and laughter you've shared with us, the hope you have given us and the memories we will forever cherish. She has pioneered the fight for this disease let's continue to fight in her honor as she has moved the fight forward with her brave battle. I will continue to keep you all in my prayers and thoughts. Please let me know how I can help you all I am so very sorry for your loss. You friend in the air always and with a heavy heart -michelle “ Though I live in Canada, Bailey's journey has impacted me deeply. I've prayed and followed along with all the updates & with every new turn of events. Smiled and laughed in the times like the Katy Perry pictures Cody tried to pick up as she got ready to meet her and the most recent tribute from Coach Peyton that had all of us cheering and so proud. I've prayed from the deepest places of my heart with every prayer request and update with treatments & tests & counts. Now grieving since seeing the news this morning. I am broken for you guys. Though it's been years, my heart feels so there with you as I know are countless others'. What a legacy she has left. I bless your courage & faith that never gave up.

“ Bailey has left an imprint on my heart and soul. She was an inspiration to so many. I was blessed to have had her in my second grade class. She loved everyone she met. I can't ever recall a negative thought voiced by her. She taught me so much about love and life. She was the most joyful kid, always smiling at every person and situation. That big gorgeous smile, I could never get enough of. It was not hard to understand where these special traits came from once you met her mom, Brook, her grandmother Sara. They too are amazing people. May God be with you all! We loved our Bailey! 🙏
