“ It breaks my heart that I just ran across this last night because I was so consumed with working 2 jobs, furthering my education & pushing to be a better me for my kids. I do a small touch of inner peace knowing that you made sure I knew just how proud you really were of me for gettin to that point in my life after my many, many mistakes. I would give anything in the world to hear you play the guitar & song "Wish You We're Here" by Pink Floyd, to lay on the hood of the wrecker in the middle of the night at our spot off Monroe Baggett that you named Pine Tree Paradise after you took me to meet your amazing Mom or to look into your eyes & see that crooked grin on your face that you'd try to hide because you knew it always made me laugh. Dad brought you into our family but didn't know just how much you would end up meaning to some of us. You were my protector from the man that had me scared to end my nightmare & my backbone until I was strong enough to stand my ground. You showed me what it truly felt like to be loved, cherished & taken care of. I guess part of me never quit loving you or completely let you go. Keep them streets hot & hang with my ole man that rolled in on that Indian almost a year ago. Hold our Little Lakota Shayne tight & tell her Mommy loves her. I'll make it there to keep the scooters clean & y'all in line soon enough. Til then, I'm sure Mom's cracking her whip or got you & Maw snickerin cause Margaret's streakin or chasin the squirrel that's loose in the church. Love you Preacher

“ I will always remember our times spent together in our younger years. He was a kind good hearted person. Even though we lost touch with each other, we were lucky enough to see each other again after many years only a few weeks ago. My thoughts and prayers are with the family during this very difficult time. May you rest in peace my friend.

“Jef and my brother Randy were in 5th grade and my twin brother Bub and I were starting 1st grade. They were able to bring us to school so we could see what school was all about. Randy had Bub and Jef had me. I was his little sister for the day. He was so proud to be showing me off. I'll always remember how you wanted to protect me. As the years went by you were never alone even when you thought you were. Fly high Jef. You will be missed. Love Darlene
