“ My Baby

as we are now at the two year point of your Heavenly birthdate please know how much Mom and I miss You and think about you all the time. Know that losing you was the absolute worst thing that we could imagine enduring and it is still as painful today as it was on the first. The only thing that keeps us going is knowing that you are Happy and have experienced the peace and joy of being in Heaven with all of our departed Family and have stared upon the face of Jesus. Your extraordinary courage through your ordeal here on earth was the absolute bravest act i have ever seen!!!

We know that God still has a purpose for us down here on earth, and that is why we are still here. Know that we await the day that we get to see your face again.

Your Loving Dad

“ Kevin, my friend, I never had the pleasure to meet this young man but many have and they all bragged about how outstanding he was. I knew he had to be because I have met his father and I know he was raised properly and loved by all who met him. Let God in to heal your hearts because he is with our Lord now, never to be in any pain again. So sorry for your loss.
