“ I will never forget the first time I met you. You were so attractive and funny I actually leaned over my fiance to talk to you. I was asked "is he what you want?" and without hesitation I answered "I believe so". Three months later we were married. No one believed that you would ever get married again and people would say that it wouldn't last a month. Here we are 16 years later. Now for the first time I must say goodbye to you and it hurts to my soul. I have loved you from the day I met you and always have and always will.
Rest my heart, you can finally rest without pain. I'll take it from here. You will always be in my heart. Till we meet again.
